COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

During the past week the extension of Eden Lane was constructed. The cost of this project was about $2500 in excess of the appropriation. More bulldozing was required than originally anticipated, due to making a greater cut and fill where material had been removed from the right of way prior to the acceptance by the town.

Work is now in progress on the North West Bethel Road. A real problem had been encountered by the location of a water main in the highway above the William Chapman farm. About 100 feet is within the traveled limits of the highway. The main is only 30 inches in diameter and is in an area that should be cut down three feet in order to improve the highway. The officials of the water company are cooperating to see what can be done to effect a solution to the problem.

The roadside spraying program that was inaugurated last year is being continued this year, with work currently in progress. The Grover Hill Road, one side of the N. W. Bethel Road, and a few of the dead end roads will be covered in the program for this year. The only complaint that has been received about this kind of work is the fact that it is unsightly for the remainder of the summer. This fact is easily conceded, however there are considerable savings over trying to keep down the growth of brush by mowing or cutting either by hand labor or by machine.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

LOCAL FAMILY SELECTED METHODIST FAMILY OF YEAR

The Bethel Methodist Church is proud to announce that one of its outstanding families was recently chosen as the Methodist "Family of the Year" of the Portland District. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brown, daughter Anne and son Corey, were notified of this distinguished honor at the Annual Maine Conference of the Methodist Church held in May. The Brown family was in competition with other families in the Portland District and had to meet certain requirements and qualifications which were set up by The Methodist Church.

The Browns are very active members in the local Methodist Church. Mr. Brown serves as a member of the Official Board and of the Board of Trustees. Mrs. Brown is a church school teacher and counselor for the Senior Youth Fellowship of which Anne is past president. Both Anne and Corey participate in the various youth groups in the church. The Bethel Methodist Church and its friends congratulate Stanley and Alice Brown, Anne and Corey, as the "Family of the Year," an honor signifying a cooperative and working spirit as a family and as individuals.

Committee to Offer New Zoning Law

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the proposed zoning ordinance as revised recently by the Town Zoning Board to meet the many excellent suggestions made at the hearing held on June 13.

As now revised, the proposed zoning ordinance will be submitted for consideration at another open hearing to be called shortly. It is the hope of the Board that the revised proposal will help Bethel retain in the future the charm that has been built into the town over the past years which means so much in bringing to Bethel its summer guests and those who desire to make it their permanent home.

Among the more important changes in the ordinance now proposed may be listed the following: A more complete definition of accessory use or customary home occupations that are permitted in residential areas. Section II, par. 8.

A more realistic limitation on the rebuilding of non-conforming buildings destroyed by fire or other causes. Section V, par. 2. Changes in area regulations, particularly in width of lot from 150 feet to 100 feet, with a paragraph definitely excluding single lots from area limitations, thus permitting the building of appropriate homes on all such existing lots. Section VI, par. 1 to 4.

Inclusion of administration regulations which were inadvertently omitted in the proposal as previously printed. These regulations provide for a Board of Appeals with the definite responsibility of granting reasonable use of all property to avoid any undue hardship in the application of the ordinance. Section VIII.

The Board will appreciate additional suggestions. They may be submitted to the Board Chairman, Mr. Henry Hastings, or brought up on the floor of the Town Hearing to be held shortly.

Points of interest noted in new C. of C. folder

A folder describing and locating several of the attractions in the Bethel area, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is now being distributed. Designed for the convenience of visitors, it is of equal interest to many "natives" who can well learn more of the nearby beauties of nature. Featured are a dozen points of interest within a half hour's ride from town.

As the finances of the Chamber are now at a low point, it is hoped that local parties will be interested in contributing toward the expense of the new publication.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

FRINGE TOP SURREY

Some day a perceptive historian will write a definitive work on the vehicles that man has invented to carry him from place to place. There are those who consider the wheel the greatest invention of man to date. In this era of a few hundred horsepower beneath the hood of a car, gigantic trucks that carry tons of material and gargantuan machines that move mountains of earth, it is difficult to conceive what the first rude wheelbarrow must have meant to early man.

Half a century ago, before horseless carriages began speeding man together too rapidly through life, the fringe-top surrey was a vehicle of distinction. The plebian, two-seated democrat and the everyday buck-board served well, but when a farm family felt that it could afford a surrey, it was a definite hitch upward on the scale and a booster to morale.

When Father decided he could afford a fringe top to take the family to church, the Fourth of July picnic and political rallies, it was an epochal event. The mail order catalog's description was satisfying. The Acme Royal Canopy Top cost a whopping $79.50 but one received value for money spent. The body hung on 1500 mile axles; it rolled on Sarven's Wheels; the upholstery was imported green English body cloth. The painting was dark coach green with neat stripes. There were two handsome imported French oil burning lamps, one either side of the front seat. The body was hung on Bailey hangers. The crowning glory was the beautiful, yellow wool fringe, trimmed with handsome, blue cords and tassels.

Naturally, the fringe top surrey was used only in good weather. But on a good day when the whole town had turned out for a big rally or an annual picnic, it did something for a lad's morale to handle the lines over the Morgan mare when they were hitched to the fringe top. The rainbow-hued ears today have a place, but the countryman doesn't get the kick from his horseless carriage that he did from the fringe-top surrey long years ago.

DANGER SPOTS ON THE FARM!

Here are the 21 dangerous places we saw in the pictures appearing on page 2. Did you find them all?

Photograph A: (1) A barnyard with any kind of livestock is a place for children to play. (2) Many children, just like this one, are drowned each year in water tanks, farm ponds, and streams. (3) Farmers are treating the soil without a staff, using only a rope snapped into the water. (4) With his back to the animal, farmer would have little warning should the bull suddenly become mad. (5) A rope cracked handle is unsafe for use anywhere. Here it is used for safety against the water tank. (6) A horse falls with a new up and being on the ground threaten injury to both people and animals.

Photograph B: (1) The most serious danger to drop and tracheostomy, gravel pits or quarries is very dangerous. (2) The light or reflection on fire. (3) Careless handling of firearms by boys on abandoned farm. (4) With two boys and one bicycle, it is fair to assume that the bicycle built for two, carried both boys to the swimming hole.

Photograph C: (1) Every Monday and sometimes in between, someone comes to close contact with electricity by screwing out the bulb and connecting the washing machine to the house. (2) Slicer or press, using a stand like this, instead of a step ladder, is certain to bring a fall. (3) Light wires are wrapped around nails and water pipes overhead. (4) Glass jars, covers, and other items on the cellar steps are sure to cause a tumble for someone. (5) There are better places for the little girl to play with her toys than on the cellar steps. (6) Handrails on steps will keep you from taking a bad fall some day.

Photograph D: (1) Farmer is repairing tractor with engine running. Fuel spilled on a hot manifold could cause a fire. (2) Shock-top while repairing your tractor is a sure invitation to a disastrous explosion and fire. (3) Uncovered power take-off can catch sleeve or pants leg. (4) Children and pets should not play near machinery, especially mowers in the backyard. (5) Drifters home alone would catch to tractor engine or power take-off. Remember your farm equipment dealer has the new "Ticket for Safe Tractor Operation" booklet. Ask him today for your free copy.

Atomic Help—It was a great pleasure to announce last week that the Air Force plans to spend about $11.5 million on improvements at the Brunswick Naval Air Station in preparation for joint use with the Navy.

This is another graphic example of the considerable benefit Maine derives from defense spending. Over $50 million is being poured into the Brunswick-Bath area alone within a period of two years. This includes $14 million awarded to the Bath Iron Works for destroyer construction, $7 million for military housing projects at Topsham and Brunswick, and the $11.5 million Air Force expenditure.

The Navy has already spent over $50 million since it reacquired the air station at Brunswick in 1951. This facility alone provides a $14 million annual payroll for the area. That payroll will be increased further when the Air Force sends a tactical unit, including 700 personnel, to the air station, probably in the spring of 1959 after improvements are completed.

SMOLDERING SPARKS OF DIVINITY

My grand-children think that I am really pre-historic because I can remember a blacksmith. How times have changed! For I can remember and perhaps you can, too, when the village blacksmith was one of the most important members of the community.

The focal point of the old-time blacksmith shop was the forge. This was an open furnace, in which iron was heated until it became soft, and malleable. Each morning, when the shop would be opened, that forge would be cold and lifeless. But the blacksmith never had to kindle a new fire in it. He would heap the dead coals together in a certain spot, and the begin to turn the handle of the blower, forcing air into the forge through its base. Little by little, that pile of lifeless coals would begin to glow, and would finally burst into life, ready for another day's service. For buried deep in the pile of coals, there would still remain a few sparks of life from the previous day's work. When the blacksmith turned the crank of the blower, he would good for the $25,000 Portland Harbor survey if a Senate increase in public works funds is agreed to in conference committee. The Senate increased the House appropriation for general investigations by almost $1 million but, according to its usual practice, did not specify which surveys this would include.

I am reliably informed, however, that the Portland study will be undertaken if the increase is upheld. I have helped obtain over $2.5 million for Portland Harbor improvements in the past, and shall continue to do everything possible to keep it one of the finest harbors on the Atlantic coast, and an important economic asset to Maine.

The proposed survey would start the wheels turning for a project to deepen the channel by 10 feet and thereby allow the accommodation of deep-draft tankers, which comprise two-thirds of the ship movements in the harbor.

Small Business—Legislation to make the small business administration a permanent agency, as proposed in a measure I introduced last year, is now for the President to sign. The SBA was proposed by the Eisenhower Administration in 1953 and enacted by the 80th Congress. Many Maine small businessmen have profited from its assistance.

Justice—The President has signed the omnibus rivers and harbors bill which includes the $250,000 Justice river project and a survey of the West Branch section of York Beach. Funds for the Justice project are included in the Senate-passed public works Appropriation bill.

A flashing yellow light is a caution sign. It warns drivers that there is a possibility of danger at that particular point, and that drivers should proceed with great care. The Maine Highway Safety Committee reminds us that all traffic signs, lights, and signals are installed for our protection, but that they provide no protection if we fail to obey them.

air those few feeble sparks into life.

That is just what the Apostle Paul was saying about people, in one of his most famous sentences: "For the flame the gift of God that is within you." (2 Timothy 1:6). There were blacksmith shops in his day, and they differed little from those of today. Apparently, he had watched the smith nurse into life the smoldering sparks of yesterday. He saw it as a parable of human life.

In every human soul, are smoldering sparks of divinity, powers for good that we little suspect. It is the ask of religion to nurse them to a new life.

SOIL CONSERVATION IN OXFORD COUNTY

By Lyman W. Jacobson
The Oxford County Soil Conservation District will cooperate with 4-H Club Agent to sponsor Land Judging Contests.

Mrs. Arlene Knight, 4-H Club Agent for Oxford County, has expressed interest in planning Land Judging Contests for the 30 odd 4-H Clubs in Oxford County.

Discussion of the soil has been a difficult subject with young people. With the development of land judging a means has been provided to glamorize the soil.

Land judging is a tool to teach the fundamentals of proper land use and treatment. Land is judged in much the same manner as livestock is judged. In the latter we look for depth of body, straight toplines, smoothness, beefy characteristics in beef cattle. In land judging, we look for texture, permeability, slope, amount of erosion, depth of topsoil and ease of cultivation.

A land judging contest consists of a "school" lasting about two hours, where the contestants are trained in what they are to look for in soils. The actual judging is made up of mainly three parts. Part one—The physical features of the soil, such as texture, drainage, slope, stoniness, degree of erosion, depth of root penetration and ease of cultivation. Part Two—Use for which land is suited, whether for crops or permanent vegetation. Part Three consists of treatment recommended to maintain productivity and prevent erosion.

The first land judging contest in Oxford County is scheduled for Aug. 14. If the 4-Hers are too busy picking "cukes" that day, another date will be set. The East Oxford Hillsoppe with Mrs. All Woori, 4-H Club Leader, will be the contesting club.
